Mr. President,

What could we say when we realize the size of the multiple disaster that struck your country last friday. I tried to call you on several occasions, no success. Lines were probably interrupted or busy.

Words are unfortunately of little help. Our heart and our soul are struck, we follow the situation on an hourly basis.

Your country is also mine, where we had wonderful moments, and we have sensei, friends and acquaintances.

All our federation's members wish to express their profound concern, and their support in those painful events.

We pray that the situation stabilizes and improves as soon as possible. We pray that the physical, moral and material wounds start to mend.

Kokoro kara,
